NAZIS THROWN BACK IN RENEWED BATTLE ON RUSSIAN FRONT

Marines Succeed in Enlarging Positions in Guadalcanal

Series of Attacks Break Three-Day Lull At Stalingrad

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Russia's Caucasian armies were officially reported to have thrown back the Germans in the critical struggle for the Grozny oil fields today, while in the 50-day-old siege of Stalingrad a Nazi infantry regiment led by 50 tanks advanced slightly in a costly renewal of the drive toward the Volga.

Breaking a three-day lull, the Germans launched a series of attacks amid the skeleton ruins of Stalingrad, but the Russians declared their defense lines held firm and frustrated a Nazi attempt to smash into a northwest factory district.

For the third consecutive day, Nazi field headquarters made no specific mention of the trend of fighting inside the city, declaring merely:

"Local attempts of attack made by the enemy were nipped in the bud by German and Hungarian troops respectively in the area of Stalingrad and on the Don front."

Even the broad reference to "the Stalingrad area" contained no claims of Nazi gains or even of Nazi offensive.

Battlefront reports said the Germans are now attacking only in single regiments compared with "as many as five divisions previously thrown into the assault."

Disparities said Russian soldiers were muffled in great coats against the chill of approaching winter, and photographs of long lines of German prisoners showed they were already wearing their winter uniforms.

Nazi headquarters also declared weather conditions were becoming worse.

Pravda said Red army troops still held the Stalin Tank Plant, Stalingrad's largest industrial works, and reported that damaged tanks were being repaired inside the factory as German shells screamed overhead.

In the central Caucasus, Soviet dispatches reported that the German conditions were becoming worse.

The Italian communiqué acknowledged the Tobruk raid and claimed, without confirmation, that three four-engine American bombers were downed.

The hard-fighting Malta airmen set a record for the destruction of Axis planes in one period of daylight and marked up a two-day score of 39 planes destroyed in the aerial fighting which started over the tiny citadel, known as "the most bombed place in the world."

Many of the planes damaged were hit so badly they probably did not reach their base, the communiqué said. Five British fighters were lost in the fighting, but two of the pilots are safe, it was reported.

In the past, violent and continuous air attacks on Malta have meant that the Axis was attempting.

Policeman Injured In Fight With Yeggs

Stebenville, O., Oct. 13.—(P)—A Stebenville policeman was wounded early today in a gunfight with a trio of bandits believed fleeing from a series of Pennsylvania holdups.

Police Radio Operator Robert Cowles identified the wounded officer as William Eddy, 48. Cowles said Eddy was shot through the side as he and a fellow constable, Hyrum Bishop, emptied their guns after the trio opened fire.

One of the three men tumbled out of the automobile as it roared away amid a hail of bullets and was apprehended by Bishop, the radio operator reported.

Soldier Actor With Camera Almost Jailed in Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 13.—(P)—Private Louis Bednarik of Pasala, N. J., who helps create much excitement in the "This Is The Army" act, outdid himself on a little picture taking trip here yesterday.

Bednarik, a camera fan, was snatching his camera at a good time overlooking a huge steel mill when he noticed 10-year-old Rita Jose Demetree dashing into a nearby house.

Seconds later the girl's uncle, Joseph Orzechowski, a husky steel worker and veteran of the last war, came ambling out.

"Getting any good pictures?" Uncle Joe inquired pleasantly.

"Pretty good," said the soldier, Orzechowski explained later: "Well, then I asked him about his outfit, looked over his dog tag and saw his pass. So I says, 'don't you know you ain't allowed to take pictures of those mills? Give me the films!'"

Bed neighbors had seen the soldier, too, and called police. A squad of "junior commandos" busy gathering scrap, heard there was a "spy dressed like a soldier" in the neighborhood and ganged up on a hurry.

Bednarik, police and the "commandos" reached the street car together. There the surprised soldier-actor again talked his way clear and announced he was storing his camera for the remainder of his stay here.

PLANS FOR LOWER DRAFT AGE TO BE RUSHED

Nationwide Rationing Of Gas Nov. 9th

All Parts of Country to be Included Excepting East Already Restricted

TO CONSERVE TIRES

Washington, Oct. 13.—(P)—Registration for gasoline rationing will begin November 9 in all parts of the country except the already-rationed east.

The office of Price Administration said that while car owners in the east need not re-register, they must, like the rest of the country, provide additional information concerning the tires they own.

In gearing gasoline rationing more closely to the tire conservation program, OPA made these innovations in the plan now operated in the east:

1. Periodic tire inspections as to requirement for and renewal of rationing, as well as any application for tires or recaps.

2. Certification that the applicant owns no more than five tires for any vehicle.

3. Revocation or reduction of rationing for drivers who exceed the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit.

The registration beginning November 9 will be for "A" coupon books with the rationing plan to go into effect November 22.

Each applicant will be required to list the serial number of all tires he owns.

OPA said it would announce shortly details of the periodic tire inspection program.

SMOKY CITY MILL BLAZE A $500,000 HAZE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 13.—(P)—Damage from a fire which swept the pipe mill of the National Supply Company, Spang-Chalfant division in nearby Eliza, was estimated today by Works Manager S. W. Bremer at $500,000, of which $300,000 was equipment.

Molten enamel, which belched from a baking oven after a dull explosion, turned the 200-foot long structure into a mass of flames within a few minutes.

Great sheets of orange-colored flames shot high into the air and acrid smoke from burning chemicals covered most of Eliza. Firemen came from Sharpshooter, Millvale, Park View, Cherry City, Baurstown and Sharp's Hill.

Harrisburg, Oct. 13.—The Department of Forests and Waters has entered into an agreement with the Pennsylvania Wing of the Civil Air Patrol whereby the Patrol agrees to provide, upon call by any district forester throughout the state, such aircraft, pilots and observers as may be available at a time for the purpose of forest fire prevention, detection and extinction.

Willkie planned to leave for Minneapolis this morning on the final leg of a globe-girdling flight which took him to Africa, the Middle East, Russia, China, Siberia and Alaska. He arrived at Fairbanks, Alaska, Sunday after flying across Mongolia and Siberia.

"I have collected much material and reached certain conclusions about our war effort, and about other countries and our relations with them," Willkie said in his statement.

"I shall be in the United States shortly, and I shall report to my fellow citizens further and in full, and to the president, if he wishes, on such subjects as he desires to discuss with me."

Willkie intimated in a prepared statement last night that he would have something to say about "distant statements made by certain public officials" concerning his second front utterance in Moscow after he arrives in the United States.

REGULATING OF MANPOWER IS PROPOSED

Congressional Leaders Lose No Time in Acting On Suggestions Contained in Chat

RECENT TOUR REVIEWED

Washington, Oct. 13.—(P)—Congressional leaders took President Roosevelt's call for an army of strong young men to carry the war to the Axis as their cue today for speedy action on legislation to lower the draft age from 20 to 18.

The president, in telling the nation last night that he believed it would be necessary to lower the minimum age limit for selective service to 18, said:

"We have learned how inevitable that is—and how important to the speeding up of victory."

The chairman, Mr. (D-Ky) of the house military committee, who previously had said he would have to be convinced of the need of drafting young men, declared that in the light of the president's speech, his committee would expedite hearings on the necessary legislation.

Mr. Roosevelt, who suggested that legislation might also be needed to solve the manpower problem on the home front, alluded indirectly to a second fighting front again by declaring that one of the major decisions of strategy already made "relates to the necessity of diverting enemy forces from Russia and China to other theatres of war by new offensives against Germany and Japan."

"All of our combat units that go overseas," he said, "must consist of young, strong men who have had thorough training. A division that has an average age of 23 or 24 is a better fighting unit than one which has an average of 33 or 34."

"The more of such troops we have in the field, the sooner the war will be won, and the smaller will be the cost in casualties."

The chief executive, after reviewing his recent inspection tour and reporting that Allied strength was "on the up-grade" while that of the Axis was waning, declared the objective of today was clear and realistic.

"It is to destroy completely the military power of Germany, Italy and Japan to such good purpose," he said.

Goering Said Amassing Vast Profits in War

New York, Oct. 12.—(P)—The British Broadcasting Company is telling Europe in multi-language broadcasts that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has amassed a vast fortune in war profits and deposited about $8,000,000 in foreign countries, including the United States.

These broadcasts, heard here by CBS, said one of the Reichsmarshal's latest acquisitions was a villa in Appelpken, near Stockholm, which he bought in the name of his sister-in-law, Frau Von Villemovitz-Moellendorf, and where he hopes to live in ease after the collapse of Germany.

The BBC broadcast said Goering holds life insurance of American, Swiss, Swedish and Dutch companies.

Explosive Company Officials Arrested

Washington, Oct. 13.—(P)—The navy took possession today of the Triumph Explosives, Inc., at Elkton, Md., and two subsidiaries at Milford, Del., and the White House announced that the FBI had arrested a plant vice president and an army and navy inspector on bribery charges.

A White House statement said the inspectors were charged with accepting bribes in the guise of "service fees" and that the navy "preliminary investigation indicates that more than $1,000,000 in management 'irregularities' may be involved."

The navy took over the plants under terms of a presidential executive order which said it was determined that they were operated "ineffectively and safely."

Hitler Believed Planning On Defensive Warfare in Future

Indications of New Trend In German Strategy Seen In London

ADMISSIONS PERTINENT

London, Oct. 13.—(P)—The possibility has dawned upon the Germans of "war on two or three fronts—wherever on the perimeter of Europe an attack might come," a well-informed British source declared today.

This source, who insisted on anonymity, based his belief on recent Nazi utterances picturing Germany as preparing for defensive warfare.

Until now, he said, the Nazis' avowed objective has been the destruction of Russia's armies, and the indications of a new trend in German strategy is the first admission that Hitler has given up the attempt.

So far as crushing Russia, he declared, "Hitler now concedes defeat."

This informant contrasted the admission that the Nazis now have been compelled to prepare for defensive war, possibly on several fronts, with the assurances of Reichsmarshal Goering in 1939 that the treaty with Russia eliminated the danger of a two-front war "for all time."

(Attorney General Biddle said last night in New York City: "I don't see why they want to investigate Mr. Arnold, who is simply doing his duty. However, I'd be glad to hold an investigation if it would show what an efficient public official he is.")

Store Clerks Agree To Go Back To Work

Harrisburg, Oct. 13.—(P)—State liquor clerks, today agreed to end their 10-day-old work stoppage which has closed more than 200 state stores in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and other sections of the state.

"They have agreed to go back to work," announced Chairman Frederick T. Gelder, of the State Liquor Control Board, adding "they will be back on the job this afternoon."

Gelder did not announce the terms of the settlement immediately but said he was preparing a statement on the subject.

After a conference yesterday between Frederick T. Gelder, chairman of the State Liquor Control Board, and union representatives, Gelder said: "There is no change in the situation—that is, not at present." The union at that time announced the local union meetings, but did not say why they were called.

Known Losses of Enemy In Island Engagement Are 38 Ships Against 9 American

Graphic Story Of Fight Told By Survivors

Unexpected Encounter is Described by Rescued At San Francisco

A NIGHT OF HORROR

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—(P)—An unexpected night encounter with a hard-hitting, sharp-shooting Japanese battle force burned vivid images of flaming guns and ships in the memories of the survivors of three U. S. cruisers sunk off Tulagi Harbor August 9.

Some of the men who lived through that night of horror have reached San Francisco. The navy has permitted them to tell something of what happened.

Lynn F. Hager, a tall, sharp-eyed Texan, was on sky control watch on the Astoria. The night was black under thick, low clouds. He could not see the other two cruisers, the Vincennes and the Quincy, which moved along with the Astoria on their circular patrol of the harbor mouth.

Hager's keen ears picked up the ominous moan of an airplane. He dashed a message to the bridge. Word was sent to the captain.

Suddenly the night gave way to a glaring white as a flare burst through the clouds a few hundred feet above the ship. Simultaneously, from the southern end of Tulagi Bay, a searchlight pinioned the Astoria for a brief moment.

The light snapped off. Then guns flamed from close quarters and the Astoria shuddered under the impact of shell after shell. Ammunition ready boxes exploded and shivered the bridge and the deck with lead.

It was the beginning of the battle that ended only after the three United States fighting ships had been mortally wounded.

When it was no longer possible to fight the burning ship, orders were given to abandon. Hager said he started to help move the wounded off the forecastle but decided to be in good condition. He did not get back to the ship.

LEWIS GIVEN POWER TO EXPAND UNIONS

Cincinnati, Oct. 13.—(P)—The 37th annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America gave general organizational powers to the UMW's heterogeneous District 50 today, a move construed in some quarters as laying the groundwork for John L. Lewis when, after the war, he might seek to organize fields far from the coal mines and untouched by unionism.

Associates of Lewis, who preferred not to be quoted directly, declared Lewis seemed to have farmers particularly in mind.

LACKAWANNA UPHELD IN ELECTION Muddle

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—(P)—The Pennsylvania supreme court today upheld the Lackawanna county court which dismissed county commissioners' objections to a writ of preemptory mandamus sought by a Republican group to remove more than 9,000 names from the county's voting list.

The per curiam order by the high court said:

"Order of the court below is affirmed as the method of controlled pumping."

This calls for sealing the ship, dividing her into watertight compartments, then pumping the water out slowly.

Berlin Requested to Rescind Acts of Shackling Prisoners

London, Oct. 13.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill announced today that Germany had been requested to rescind her action in shackling British and Canadian prisoners and that if the Nazis agreed, Britain immediately would cancel her reprisal measures.

Churchill said that the Germans violated the Geneva convention when they chained 1,376 prisoners taken at Dieppe on August 19 and that representations had been made to Berlin through Switzerland, urging the Nazis to desist.

If the Germans will desist, he continued, "the counter-measures of similar nature which the (British) government felt themselves to take will immediately be withdrawn."

It was the prime minister's first report on the negotiations since Germany announced last Friday that the Britons and Canadians had been tied up for alleged binding of the hands of Nazis seized in British raids on Dieppe and Sark Island. Britain retaliated by fettering a similar number of Nazi prisoners Saturday.

Three Heavy Cruisers Are Added to Announced Naval Toll

PLANE RATION 5 TO 1

Washington, Oct. 13.—(P)—The navy announced today that United States marines had succeeded in enlarging their positions on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomon Islands during two days of offensive fighting in which the Japanese had many casualties.

Announcement also was made of destruction of 15 Japanese planes, damage to two enemy light cruisers and loss of two United States planes in operations on October 9 and 11.

Rear Admiral John C. McCain, lately a naval air commander in the southwest Pacific, declared confidently today that "we can hold the Solomons and expand them."

McCain, who was called back here to head the bureau of aeronautics, said he based this belief on evidence that American units in the Solomon Island campaign had shown "sufficient superiority in material and men."

Astoria Carried Ashes Of Saito to Japan

Washington, Oct. 13.—(P)—The U. S. S. Astoria, one of the three heavy United States cruisers announced by the navy to have been lost in the Solomon Islands August offensive, which carried the ashes of former Japanese Ambassador Hiroshi Saito home to Japan in 1959.

The cruiser sailed from Annapolis, Md., March 18, 1939 following elaborate and solemn funeral services here.

The admiral, who appeared at a press conference held by Secretary Knox, reported that in one period, August 21 to September 17, the Japanese lost 133 planes over Guadalcanal Island to 25 American planes—a ratio of five to one.

McCain's confident appraisal of the situation followed by one day a naval announcement adding three heavy cruisers to the reported American naval losses in the savage but successful battle two months ago to break Japanese control of the Solomons.

The admiral, whose headquarters were at the island of Espiritu Santo, 565 miles from Guadalcanal, (Turn to Page Seven)

Normandie To Float Again

New York, Oct. 13.—(P)—The man running the biggest salvage job in the annals of shipping says the once-luxurious liner Normandie, half-submerged beside a Hudson river pier since first crippled her Feb. 9, will sail again.

Capt. William A. Sullivan, assigned by the navy to right the $3,423-ton sea queen as she can emerge at the pier, told newsmen during a visit inside the hulk that her vast network of machinery again would develop the 160,000 horsepower that once sped her across the Atlantic in record time.

Sullivan did not say when he thought the French-built vessel—renamed the U. S. S. Lafayette—might float again but, when asked if he thought she would roll into position when certain phases of the salvage operation were completed, he replied: "Sure it will."

Sullivan and 580 workmen are going to do the job by what the captain called "the method of controlled pumping."

This calls for sealing the ship, dividing her into watertight compartments, then pumping the water out slowly.

Volunteer Operators of Post 135D Have Excellent Record

(Contributed)

Conceived by an alert and able mind, born of the untiring efforts and generous donations of a loyal public, the above pictured structure rises to grace with utility, comfort and strength the east side of the Conewango, near the village of Russell, Pine Grove township, Warren county, and is officially known as Observation Post 135D.

The hut is seven feet by seven feet, double floored, insulation lined, is fitted with an adequate desk, a comfortable chair, lighted by electricity, and heated, as necessary, by gas.

The "cat walk" surrounding the hut is two-and-one-half feet wide and is guarded by a substantial hand rail. The whole structure rises twenty-three feet above the ground on four former telephone poles and is reached by the semi-reversed stairway, as shown.

From June 22 to September 11, this Post has been manned continuously, twenty-four hours day and night, without a moment's break in the service; in two-hour shifts, by over eighty-four loyal men and women volunteers. The day tricks from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. were served by the women of the community, led by the Women's Auxiliary of the Russell Fire Department. The night tricks from 8 p. m. to 8 a. m. were served by men.

We are not of a sufficiently vivid imagination to write a lot of human interest tales of these loyal volunteers. We had grand-fathers, grand-mothers and grand-children but they all served singly and alone. It was not so easy to get up and out in the wee sma' hours and do even a two hour trick; and many an orderly household schedule was disrupted by a missing woman; but as before stated, and it is worthy of repetition, the service was continuous. VOLUNTEER OPERATORS OF POST 135D. WE SALUTE YOU.

Pre-Induction Training Of Great Value To Soldiers

War training courses to be offered by the Warren School District in cooperation with The Pennsylvania State College Extension Services will serve as excellent preinduction courses for men who will enter the armed forces in the near future. Out of every 100 men inducted into Army Service, 63 are assigned to duties requiring specialized training. The evening class courses in fundamentals of electricity, fundamentals of mechanics, blueprint reading, and industrial mathematics will provide men with certain basic instruction required for many army occupations. Registration for the classes will be held October 15 and 16, Thursday and Friday evenings, 7:00 p. m., at the Warren High School and will be conducted two evenings a week, Monday and Wednesday, for approximately nine weeks. Anyone may enroll. Eligibility for enrollment can best be decided after an interview. The course in fundamentals of electricity will present training which is basic to 35 Army occupations: portable power generators, repairman; portable power generator, operator; radar operator, ground; chief switchboard operator; local battery, common battery; communication chief; control chief; control station operator; chief telegraph operator; casemate

REPAIRING GRANGE HALL

Major repairs are being made to the Pleasant Grange Hall and it is being made much more attractive in appearance. Shingle siding is being put in place and the appearance of the building is much enhanced. Pleasant Grange is one of the most active Granges in the county and is planning a busy winter season.

PAINTING HYDRANTS

Firemen, who some months ago took over the care and maintenance of the hydrants about the city are now engaged in giving them a thorough overhauling before winter comes. The hydrants are being painted in the business and high value sections of the town. Others will receive attention later and all will be inspected before snow flies.

BOMB DEMONSTRATION

This evening at Russell Field Fire Chief D. G. Kropf will stage a demonstration of combating the various types of bombs and incendiaries. The affair will be given especially for men in industrial plants, large buildings, etc. Eickets have been issued and admission will be by ticket. Over 400 are expected to attend. Entrance is to be made through the Lexington avenue or East gate. Today at noon Chief Kropf spoke before the Kiwanis Club at Oil City.

TIME TO GET FERTILIZER

Urging farmers to take advantage of materials offered through the conservation program and to place their orders for lime, superphosphate, and fertilizer immediately, W. L. Armitage, chairman of the Warren County Agricultural Conservation Committee, stated that the maintenance of soil fertility is essential for the continued production of crop yields demanded in the Food for Freedom Program. The use of such soil-building materials will not only be profitable for the farmer, he said, but patriotic in the war effort.

WAR AFFECTS INDIANS

Many of the young bucks on both the Cornplanter and Red House reservations are enlisting or being drafted into the U. S. Army and their going is affecting life on the reservation. Grandma Pierce of Red House who weaves Indian baskets and sells many of them to tourists reports that the young men who split the ash splints for her have gone to war and she is finding difficulty in getting basket material. The corn husk dolls made by the Indians are also growing scarce as the women who made them are finding work in nearby towns.

FUND AVAILABLE

It is learned that through a court decision, there is available to school authorities the sum of $98 remaining from the old fair grounds school exhibit program, this being limited to use for purchase of pictures and visual aids on court order. A plan is being proposed by Superintendent John Rossman whereby, with the school at the board of education each providing one-third, a sum of $300 would be available for purchase of pictures for the high school corridor. If such a plan is not accepted by the high school, it will be made available to Beatty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Warren, Pa., Oct. 11, 1942
Editor Times-Mirror:
Now that the commissioners have decided to take down the court house fence, why not make the yard into a park? A few benches to accommodate the patrons of the court house and the public and a place for open air meetings, band concerts and patriotic singing as we had in 1917? The stray cows and Indians are not likely to destroy anything, and the iron scrap might be of some value, if nothing more than to set an example for others. There is a similar iron fence along the Jackson Run road of the State Hospital grounds serving no very useful purpose. What about it folks?

GROUP MEETINGS
Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, home economics extension representative for this county, is busy scheduling dates for group meetings and asks that any communities interested in formation of such a unit will please contact her at the agricultural extension office at the court house at once. Most of the groups plan their first meetings this month.
One such unit is being organized today at the home of Mrs. Peck, Fifth avenue, and the Stoneham women will meet on Wednesday. Irvine unit reorganized last week with a meeting at the clubhouse, devoted to selection and buying of clothing.
Mrs. Prendergast will speak on nutrition at the meeting of the Fortnightly Club in Tidoute next Monday, October 19.

Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Case of Chicago, Ill., are guests at the home of the latter's brother, Mr. Irwin Sr. and wife here. Dr. and Mrs. Case added their all to the cause of their only child, a son who lost his life in an airplane crash while on patrol duty off the coast of Maine.
Young Case was a graduate of Annapolis, a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy. This scribe also learned that this family circle have several young men actively engaged here and in Canada in this cause for freedom. Some of whom have already given their lives. Dr. and Mrs. Case will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Irwin on a New England trip, combining business with pleasure.
Mr. and Mrs. Chris Lund have returned from Washington, D. C., where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Hinebaugh and family.

Y. M. C. A. FOUNDER HONORED

Ninety-eight years ago a group of twelve young Englishmen, led by one George Williams, began a youth movement that spread to every corner of the world—the Young Men's Christian Association. This week Y. M. C. A. all the world over are paying tribute to their founder, who organized the Association in London in 1844.

October 11th was the 121st anniversary of the birth of George Williams, and this week is being observed as Founder's Week in "Y" circles everywhere. To quote from a letter from President Franklin D. Roosevelt to Eugene E. Barnett, General Secretary of the National Council of Y. M. C. A.'s:

"George Williams did not have to live through times like these in his day and generation. But from his own Christian foundations at home, and by service to youth, he helped make his community strong. The Y. M. C. A., inspired by him, offers young people today a chance for the same kind of service to their community. In a day of fire and strain, it serves the men in uniform and in the production line. By unselfish merger in the U. S. O., the Y. M. C. A. brings aid to camp communities. Your work is essential. Keep it strong."

Local friends of the "Y" will be interested in a few outstanding facts, being broadcast as Founder's Week is celebrated:

The Y. M. C. A., now 98 years old, has 10,500 organizations in 61 countries of the world, with a total membership of 2,000,000 of which 1,295,992 are in the United States and Canada.

Basketball, one of the largest box-office sports, was invented by a "Y" student at the Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield, and enjoys the unique distinction of having been invented by a single brain at one sitting.

The Y. M. C. A. in Jerusalem is the only friendly meeting place for the youth of twenty different nationalities.

The Y. M. C. A. has ministered to men in the armed services in four major wars, since the Civil War, in which conflict the "Y" pioneered in ministering to sick and wounded.

George Williams was only 23 years of age when he organized the Y. M. C. A. with the assistance of 11 other young men, all of whom were poor clerks in the dry-goods business. Some years later the movement had become so powerful for good that Queen Victoria knighted Williams for having launched the organization.

DID YOU KNOW THAT . . .

- A typewriter is an essential piece of equipment on every bomber?
- The normal requirement of 59 typewriters for every battleship has been cut in half?
- Every aircraft, cruiser and destroyer is now function on half its normal complement of typewriters?
- Every military communication, order, report and purchase requisition depends on typewritten records for legibility and accuracy?
- The Army has cut its typewriter requirements 60 per cent below former basic allowances?
- The typewriter industry is now building guns and instruments for military use?
- Power to requisition typewriters is vested in the War Production Board and Treasury Department, Procurement Division, by law?
- That the official U. S. Typewriter Purchases Depot in Warren is the Warren Typewriter Exchange, with W. H. Beecher as manager?
- You can make a direct contribution to the war effort by helping solve the pressing typewriter problem?
- The Army and Navy need typewriters—50,000 of them—and we can depend upon the typewriter manufacturers for less than one-third that quantity?
- Standard models, all makes and all carriage widths, produced on or after January 1, 1935, are needed?
- You will receive the top trade-in price as of February first, 1941—regardless of depreciation since that date?

After that fireside chat last evening, speedy action on legislation to lower the draft age from 20 to 18 may be expected at Washington, a decision which offers no cheerful prospect for parents of youths in that bracket, but which seems necessary to assure victory over the Axis.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Now that all the tumult and the shouting has died down, let's examine the record for an answer to the one question that generally was overlooked: Why did President Roosevelt take that 9,000-mile trip?

Was it to find how the war production effort is really progressing? Certainly not. There isn't a time of day or night that the President couldn't call for certified production figures and give a more accurate percentage on production efficiency than he could by glancing over such plants as he could visit in a two-weeks tour.

Was it for political reasons? Hardly. Political tours aren't made in secrecy. We have the President's own word for it that he saw no state chairmen or political candidates; visited with only 11 governors (four of whom were Republicans); made speeches. If his visit with former Vice President Garner has any political tinge, it could only be that the President and "Cactus Jack" were laying the ghost of an old political feud that no longer has any meaning.

WAS it to get a finger on the pulse of the people? In some small measure, perhaps. But traveling 14 days by train, moving on secret schedules, riding in a closely guarded car, the President is not going to feel many more pulses than he is right here where the mail, visitors, editorial digests, and such keep him in constant contact with what is going on OUTSIDE Washington.

Any one or all of these interpretations may be tagged onto the President's trip. Only the President himself knows really why he went and he doesn't need to explain. But the truth of the matter probably is just as simple as some of those who know him best make it sound.

In the first place, the President's need to get away from the daily routine of wartime in the White House must be apparent to any one who gives a thought to the facts.

Except for a dedication junket into Maryland, a few days at Hyde Park, and an occasional auto ride near the capital, Roosevelt has been his own prisoner of war since before Pearl Harbor. Early and late, day in and day out, he has gone through the daily White House round with never a change of scene to aid relaxation. Add to this monotony, the great responsibility which falls on any chief executive in wartime and multiply it by the stupendity of this global war.

That is something the President can't escape, no matter how many trains he takes, but by changing the scene, he perhaps has been able to readjust the load he's carrying.

AS for his reason for visiting production plants and training centers, those close to him have even a simpler explanation. The President's interest in production—whether it be of machines of war or of the trained soldiers and sailors who will man them in battle—is keen. He likes to see the wheels go around and to watch the assembly lines rolling them off.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I heard a story from the lips of Count Gosta Morner de Moreland that I hesitate to tell, because thus far I haven't been able to figure out the story's implications, if any.

The count, who is now plain Mr. Morner, having recently forsaken his Swedish title for American citizenship, saw the incident happen while on a train coming up from Texas.

In this particular car were quite a few sailors and a rather pretty girl. The girl asked the sailors if they didn't want their eyebrows plucked. The sailors, bewildered, declined the offer. But the girl sat down, put a pillow on her lap, singled out one freckle-faced sailor and practically accused him of cowardice. It was too much for the freckle-faced lad, who reclined on the seat with his head on the pillow in the girl's lap.

The girl went to work with tweezers. The sailor winced. His buddies stood around kidding him, and the aisle became jammed. The girl, undisturbed, did such a job of transformation that four more sailors underwent the operation before they had to get off the train.

WHAT puzzled the count, what puzzles you is why the girl would extend such an invitation. Was she sadistic? Did she feel she was doing something for her country? Was she a fledgling beauty operator seeking experience? Or was she just more proof that you see a lot of funny people walking around in this world?

Mr. Morner apologized for having told a pointless story. So do I. But the story and Mr. Morner interested me. He happens to be Peggy Hopkins Joyce's ex-husband No. 4, the one who gave her her title. Now he is happily married to Geraldine Fitch, a former New York newspaperwoman who was assigned to write a story about him.

Mr. Morner is tall, lean and likeable. When I met him he was planning to go to the rodeo at Madison Square Garden, dressed in a five-gallon Stetson.

NOT to let you down completely, here's a story which does have a point.

Investigators from the internal revenue bureau called on a Brooklyn woman who owed $1,600 in back taxes. All she had in the bank was $6, she said, and they were welcome to it. But the investigators, unsatisfied, found an entry in her check book for a couple of years earlier for $6,000.

"Look," said the woman, "you've made a mistake. I never had $6,000. If you found that much in my account, good luck to you. You can keep it."

But the tax collectors didn't keep it. They deducted the $1,600 and gave the woman clear title to the rest. And then it came out that ten years before the woman had befriended a rag picker who had deposited the $6,000 to her account, with the specific order that she not be informed until his death. He had died, but the bank had forgotten to notify the woman.

Albinos appear at the rate of one in 10,000 persons.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

HAPPENED to me only yesterday. I step on the starter of my car. Engine turns over O. K. but she won't start.

So I look under the hood just as if I know what's the matter. Tap a few things with a wrench. While I'm standin' there, wondering what to do next, a young soldier stops alongside.

"Need some help?" he asks.

"Got her almost fixed," I says. "But still she won't start."

"Looks like your carburetor's flooded," he says. "Got a screw driver handy?"

That young soldier knew what he was doin' all right. Went to work just like a professional.

"She'll be O.K. now," he says, straightenin' up and smilin'.

Boy's face looked sort of familiar. And I darned it that soldier wasn't young Charlie Jenkins from Elm Street. Used to be a round-shouldered kid—one of those jitter bugs you hear about. Say! You wouldn't know him after six months in the Army. Fifteen pounds heavier—straight and tan and real sure of himself. The Army's done a lot for Charlie. Made a man out of him—and I guess that goes for lots of other young fellows, too.

The other day I read how some folks worry about the soldiers havin' a glass of beer now and then. Well, after seein' Charlie, I don't think there's much cause for people to fret.

Just like Charlie says—"If you can trust us with guns and ships and tanks, I guess you can trust us with a glass of beer once in a while, if we happen to want one."

And I know the beer industry is co-operating with the Army and the law-enforcement officers to see that beer is sold in good, clean, decent places.

From where I sit, this country's never seen a finer, cleaner, better-behaved lot of men than the ones in uniform today. I'm not worryin' about 'em.

Library At Youngsville Has to Move

Men Were Inducted at Erie And Have Been Enjoying A Fourteen Day Leave

LISTS FOR NEXT MONTH

Youngsville, Oct. 13.—Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church and the Women's Missionary Association of the United Brethren church will meet together on Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church. The out of town speaker for the afternoon will be Miss Jane Barlow, an English woman who has been a missionary in Korea and also traveled in many of the countries of the world. She is making her home in Warren until her return to England.

There will be a social hour following the program. Any of the ladies in the community who are interested in missions are welcome.

LIBRARY TO MOVE

The Youngsville Public Library has received word that because the building in which they are now located has been sold they will have to move by the first of November. A new plan has been in operation during past month. There have been so many community drives for this and that, that the library association decided to do away with the drive from house to house and ask a small fee of only a dollar, which will entitle a family to all the uses of the library. Even this may be paid in small amounts at a time. Mrs. Martha Freeborough, as librarian is doing very fine work. It is impossible to keep the library open without funds for heat, light, rent, clerk hire and the purchase of new books. During the last twelve months 3,376 books have been loaned out from the library to townspeople. It would be a shame if this good work in the town would have to cease. So if you are interested in keeping the Youngsville Library going please

Jacobs and Roxborough Say Louis Was Misinterpreted

Everyone Denies Retirement Statement Made In Omaha Exept The Bomber Himself

Kansas City, Oct. 13.—(P)—The Joe Louis controversy—will he or won't he fight again?—has ended. Both sides are right.

Sergeant Joe, on his way from Fort Riley, Kas., to Los Angeles for a two weeks furlough, diplomatically voted both yes and no while waiting for a plane.

He hasn't exactly retired. Still he doubts if he ever does any more heavyweight title-defending. (In Omaha Sunday Joe told David B. Kaufman of the Associated Press his fighting days were over. Later from New York came promoter Mike Jacobs' cry that Joe had been misinterpreted.)

"When I said in Omaha I wasn't going to fight again," Joe explained, "I meant I'd probably never have another chance."

"This was my business now. Say it lasts two years. I'm in for the duration and six months after. That's a long time to be out of training."

Then he figured he was through with the ring for keeps?

Joe's record run of 21 successful defenses to taking the crown away.

Jimmy Johnston, as quiet as usual, took a different tack about Joe's announcement. He immediately issued a claim on the championship on behalf of his up-state heavyweight, Rapid Robert Pastor, who holds the unique distinction of having been beaten twice by Louis—once by going "on his bicycle" for 10 rounds to lose a decision and the second time by being put to sleep in 11 heats.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—(P)—Joe Louis may or may not fight again, but as far as the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission is concerned no claimants for the Brown Bomber's title will be recognized in this state until the war ends.

Chairman Leon L. Rains disclosed the commission's position, saying it will sanction no elimination matches to establish a new title-holder.

"If Louis decides after the war that he wants to fight again," Rains said, "he will deserve to be recognized as the defending champion, or, at least, as the foremost contender."

LOBERT TO STICK AS MANAGER OF PHILLIES

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—(P)—Gerald P. Nugent, president of the National League Phillies, expects to retain Hans Lobert as manager during 1943.

"I do not expect a change," Nugent said yesterday of the 61-year-old former catcher, whose popularity with the fans was as strong all season as the team's hold on last place.

This was Lobert's first year as a big league manager. His current contract expires Jan. 1.

Horseshoe for Series Hero

George (Whitey) Kurowski, St. Louis Cardinals third baseman, gets a floral horseshoe from admiring townsmen upon his triumphant return to his home in Reading, Pa. Councilman Charles Stoner (right) makes the presentation as Charley Wagner, Boston Red Sox pitcher, also of Reading, looks on. Kurowski's two-run homer in the ninth inning of the last game with the Yankees clinched World Series for Cards.

Covering The Sports Front!

By "BOB" JOHNSON

The impressive showing of 'Pete' Wilson was the outstanding attraction of Saturday's game. This powerful fullback of the Red and Green charges never failed to make a gain when carrying the pigskin, and as a ball totor probably is the most formidable in the section. In the first half, he gained 77 yards on an average of slightly over 5 yards per try on plunges, and snared the only two passes in the first half for an additional 11 yards—that kind of ground gaining by plunges in one half of activity is but seldom seen—Coach Moon's dancing shift that so many times caught the Dragons off balance, has been in the making for the past three years, with this season the first he has used it extensively. It's been built up around the same varsity backfield and has been held back these three years, for a 1942 debut—Our hat's off to your 'baby,' Dent.

There is nothing definite so far, but D'Angelo, the locals versatile fullback, probably will be on the sidelines this week with his leg injury, which he received in colliding with the wire on the Jamestown sidelines Saturday, and he will be missed no end.

Considerable controversy centered around the number of penalties in last week's game—some acts left the crowd gaping with an occasional 'boo' being heard as penalties were called for clipping, and unnecessary roughness several times. As a whole, the fans held their 'sportsman tongues' though and kept the tilt on a friendly basis.

Several questions have been asked about the approaching duck season which opens Thursday—First one must purchase a duck stamp along with his hunting permit—the shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset each day, except Oct. 31 the first day of small game season when it is unlawful to take game before 9:00 a. m. or after 6:00 p. m. unless sunset occurs earlier or sunrise later than this hour. If there are any quacks about this, report them to us, but you better apply for regulations yourself—Bob Pastor is reportedly peddling again. Only this time not the bicycle, but reasons why he is the heir to Louis' crown—Hardly had Joe opened his mouth than he reported his claims—Well, it's the first time he's chased Joe around.

Yale Holds Him—Too Late

Looks like it's mugging time at dear old Yale, but it's just a too-late chin tackle after a Penn touchdown during the game in Yale Bowl. Penn fullback Bert Stiff (33) has just skidded over the goal line in the unloving embrace of Yale Halfback Townsend Hoopes (14). It was Penn's first score in a 35-6 touchdown parade that gave the Eli's the second worst beating in the history of the teams' rivalry.

Soccer Is Winning Sport In Athletics

Soccer football is taking a hold on the smaller schools of the county and several of them are playing the game. Lottsville last week won a 2-1 game from Russell on its home field. This is the first time in three years that they have played the game. Carl Mallon, former Spartansburg mentor, is now principal of the Lottsville school. Peterson, center forward and Brunecz, inside right did the scoring for the Mallonites. Mallon has hopes that he will be able to get a basketball team at work in Lottsville and is angling for a gymnasium. At present the school is negotiating with Panama, N. Y., and with Sugar Grove about the rental of a gym. If successful it will be Lottsville's first season on the courts in four years.

GEORGIA UNIVERSITY RATED ONE OF BEST

Athens, Ga., Oct. 13.—(P)—Pre-season experts rated the University of Georgia football team as one of the nation's best.

Here is its record to date: The Bulldogs rolled up 1,627 yards by land and air against only 479 yards for Kentucky, Jacksonville Naval Base, Furman and Mississippi. They piled up 68 first downs—an average of 17 per game while totaling 109 points against 26.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Flying gloves are regularly issued equipment for American aviators. They are sturdy, well-made gloves and the army gets them in quantities for $1.50 each.

Thus for the purchase of only $1.50 in War Savings Stamps, you can buy a pair of gloves for some American aviator. School children, girls clubs and other like organizations could join forces and invest in War Stamps to buy aviation gloves. At least ten percent of our annual income is necessary to meet the cost of this War. By buying War Bonds you do your share on the home front for the boys on the battle front.

A Promise for Tomorrow

Chapter 23 House of Mystery

DAYLIGHT found them miles from the coast, over the first of the three ridges into the Klamath River country.

"Do you suppose that man really believed we turned back?"

"Doubt it," Pete muttered. "He'll probably come tagging along now, any minute."

"But he won't know where we turned off."

"Don't fool yourself, Sissy. He's probably guessed where we're going and knows the way better than we do."

"He wouldn't have to know it too well, at that," Julie said wryly when they took the wrong road a second time and had to turn back.

It was hours between houses. The road climbed steadily, twisting up and down again into the valley. Each ridge rose higher than the last, the road narrowed, curved more insidiously with every mile.

"If I remember correctly," Pete said finally, "it's the next place beyond this highway bridge."

A moment later, he pulled off the road under wide-spreading branches, stopped the car.

"I've an idea prudence is the better part of valor," Pete grinned, slid out of the car. "Suppose we do a little reconnoitering. I'm not happy about walking in on Kelland without being sure of a welcome."

They crossed through an abandoned apple orchard, keeping carefully in the deepest shade. When they could see the old farmhouse that Kelland used as headquarters for his hunting and fishing parties, they stood a moment studying the scene below.

Two cars stood in the drive. One Julie recognized immediately as Kelland's town car. The other was a green phaeton!

"They're all right," she whispered, and felt faint beat wings in her tummy at the thought of facing that cold, insolent smile again.

"Looks like it," Pete nodded, scowling thoughtfully. "Damned funny if the guy is pulling any tricks that he'd drive around the country in a car like that. Too easily identified."

"Maybe he's here as Mr. Kelland's guest."

"Maybe he's guilty as hell and Kelland's hiding him here, too," Pete grinned. "Come to go see?"

She nodded, followed him up the open meadow. Pete was careful to keep back of the barn, out of sight of the house for as long as possible.

"Damned funny that there doesn't seem to be anyone about," Pete muttered as they stopped to catch their breath.

The Voice

STILL no sound from the house, no sign of life. Only the steady plink-plunk of a dripping faucet in the horse trough.

Julie shivered, although the sun was blazing from straight overhead.

"Scared?" Pete swung an arm about her, gave her a little hug. "They can't do any more than throw us out. Come on, maybe we're in time for lunch."

The old house, once a proud sample of ugly American gothic architecture, had tall, narrow windows, many of them boarded up now, and a steep roof partly covered with grey moss like an unsightly skinned eruption. The porch sagged drunkenly under the weight of rambling roses that climbed toward the roof, a screen door staggered on one hinge and the whole house gave an air of debauched gentility.

They tried the back door first, knocked several times, tried the knob. Bolted fast.

Then they climbed over tangled shrubbery that had once been a flower garden to the front door. As Pete lifted the old-fashioned iron knocker, they heard the unmistakable sound of a woman crying.

Pete's hand froze to the knocker and as he turned toward her, Julie saw that he recognized that voice too.

"Dawn!" he whispered.

Then a man's voice from an upstairs room. "Don't be a little fool! Tears are not becoming to you, beloved."

Julie's heart stopped, then raced to catch up. That voice! It certainly wasn't Harry Kelland's. It certainly was one she had heard before!

Pete must have caught her thought. He slanted an eyebrow, motioned toward the sound above, then to the green car in the yard beyond.

She nodded, wanted to turn and run as Pete banged the knocker imperiously.

It was minutes before anyone answered. Then muffled voices, footsteps. The door swung open. It was Kelland, himself.

For a minute he just stared from one to the other. Then, recovering himself, he tried to hide obvious dismay behind a too-hearty—

"Well! Well! Look who's here," and pumping Pete's hand, pounding him on the back, he ushered them into the long narrow halls that divided the lower floor rooms and ascended steeply to the upper floor. "Come in! Glad to see you."

The latter, Julie realized instantly, was purely automatic courtesy. He certainly was not glad to see them. He was alarmed, even terrified. He drawn face, the nervous darting of his glance betrayed him.

Mixed Welcome

"WHAT in the devil brought you two up here this early in the summer?" he demanded with what was probably intended to pass for geniality.

"Oh, heard you'd come up for some salmon trout. Thought we'd like to try our luck at catching a few limits too," Pete said easily.

"Well, that's not a bad idea. Come in, and be pushed open one of the double doors leading to the front parlor."

"Where are you staying?" he asked immediately.

Pete hedged. "Oh, haven't decided yet. Thought maybe you'd put us up here for a couple of days if it isn't too much trouble."

Kelland moistened his lips nervously. "Ordinarily I insist on that, Pete. But it just happens I've house-guests already. Some friends from New York— you know how it is—and I—"

"Oh, that's all right," Pete interrupted lightly. "Julie can have that sofa and I'll take my sleeping bag out under the trees. Don't worry about us. Calmly, he strolled to a window, pulled back a creaking inside shutter. "Didn't have any idea it was so swell here up here, Mr. Kelland. I'd have accepted your generous invitations before."

Julie, admiring Pete's coolness, only hoped her own attitude matched his.

"Me too, Mr. Kelland. Don't your New York friends think it's wonderful here?"

His eyes didn't meet hers but he nodded quickly. "Oh, yes. They—they're enjoying it immensely. Or were," he changed it. "The young lady is indisposed—effects of the heat or altitude, I suppose."

"Oh, too bad," Pete turned from the window. "You'll be glad to know the searching parties found no evidence that Dawn was killed in the fire, Mr. Kelland. In fact, we have some clues that point to her having gotten out safely. She was seen in a car leaving the district shortly after midnight. We knew you would be heartened by that news. That's one reason we dashed up here after you."

Julie watched Mr. Kelland's face intently while Pete spoke. Emotions came and went so rapidly that it was hard to know just what his reaction was. But his reply was even more confusing.

"That's impossible, Pete," he said hastily. "She couldn't possibly have escaped and remained missing for so long. She would—that is—I believe I would have been informed—"

CHURCH REVIVALS

MISSIONARY ALLIANCE
The service of the annual missionary convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance tabernacle was quite well attended last evening and Rev. D. P. Olson, missionary for 20 years in central China, gave a fine stereopticon lecture on his work. Evangelist R. K. Mills preached briefly on "What Is a Christian?" Rev. Olson will speak tonight at 7:45 on "Opening a Walled City in China" and will appear in the costume of a Chinese teacher. Rev. Mills will speak on "Stopped on the Highway." Miss Marian Kiser, pastor, extends a welcome to all interested.

Known Losses of Enemy in Island Engagement is 38

(From Page One) made two trips to Guadalcanal and he said there were evidences that the Japanese actually were declining in aerial strength in the Solomons area.

In this evidence, he said, were facts as to the types of planes they were using and the speed with which they were making replacements.

Three heavy cruisers were added today to the announced American naval losses in the savage but successful battle two months ago to break Japanese control of the vital southeastern Solomons.

While protecting the night landing of American reinforcements in the Tulagi-Guadalcanal area, August 8-9, the navy disclosed late yesterday, the cruisers Quincy, Vincennes and Astoria were sent to the bottom by enemy gunfire and torpedoes.

The toll raised the Japanese score in the Solomon Islands conflict of nine United States vessels—three cruisers, four transports and two destroyers. Two more destroyers were damaged. The enemy's known losses total 38 ships sunk or damaged.

The spectacular battle also brought destruction of the Australian cruiser Canberra. The navy, while acknowledging many Allied casualties, reported that most of the crew men were saved.

Captain Samuel N. Moore, of Alexandria, Va., commander of the Quincy, was among those lost. The slipper of the Vincennes and the Astoria, Captains F. L. Riefkohl of Maunabo, Puerto Rico, and William G. Greenman of Watertown, N. Y., were saved.

The importance of the Solomon operations was emphasized by the navy in a communique disclosing that the United Nations have established bases in the New Hebrides and Fiji Islands, as well as in New Caledonia.

Series of Attacks Breaks Three-Day Lull at Stalingrad

(From Page One) mans moved fresh divisions and tank columns into the battle, "Straining to advance" toward the Grozny oil center, but Soviet counterattacks scored gains in a number of areas.

In the Don-Volga corridor northwest of Stalingrad, where Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's armies have been passing a relief counter-offensive along a 40-mile front, operations were described as a combination of trench fighting and warfare of maneuver.

"Our tank crews knocked out three German tanks, smashed five anti-tank guns, and wiped out a company of enemy infantry," Soviet headquarters announced, referring to this sector. Eight hundred Germans were reported killed and 11 enemy attacks were beaten off in fighting for a single point.

Rationing of Manpower Is Proposed

(From Page One) he said, "that their threat against us and all the other United Nations cannot be revived a generation hence."

"We are united in seeking the kind of victory that will guarantee that our grandchildren can grow and, under God, may live their lives free from the constant threat of invasion, destruction, slavery and violent death."

"And we Americans and our Allies are going to win," he declared, "and do not let anyone tell you anything different."

"Germany and Japan are already realizing what the inevitable result will be when the total strength of the United Nations hits them—at additional places on the earth's surface."

Washington, Oct. 13.—(P)—"Stressing a need for 'exceptional soldiers,'" Secretary of War Stimson urged the house military affairs committee today to expedite legislation for the drafting of 18 and 19 year old men.

In a letter to Chairman May (D-Ky), Stimson said the urgency of the task of building up for the United States the best army in the world "cannot be overemphasized."

"Our own survival is in the balance," he said. "It's accomplishment demands the substitution of current necessity for our peace-time preferences."

"Keys For Victory" Salvage Campaign and Address by School Head at BPW Meeting

One of the busiest evenings on its year's schedule was experienced Monday night by the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club, meeting at the YWCA activities building. Dinner at six o'clock was served at a table decorated with fruit and autumn foliage, black and orange candles and Halloween place cards.

In recognition of their "Keys for Victory" salvage campaign, being conducted by the publicity committee with Katherine Bauer as chairman, all members were presented a hand-carved BPW Key, the work of Louise Neilly. These will be worn all this week in promotion of the unique metal salvage project and in observance of National Business Women's Week.

A ready response from the community and individuals was shown in reports on the progress of the campaign and one member turned in more than 1,200 keys collected the first day. Further details were worked out and will be announced in full tomorrow.

Announcement was made that the club will again participate in the Needlework Guild's garment collection, members to leave their articles with Mrs. Corinne Dean or Mrs. Lyle N. Schuler no later than October 26.

Callie Mead, president, reported on the recent district meeting at Curry and also introduced three new members: Elizabeth VanLuvane, Violet Peterson and Ethel Patchen. War stamps given for attendance were awarded to Mabel Nelson.

Elmer Peterson, chairman of the education committee, was in charge of the evening's program, presenting as guest speaker John G. Rossman, superintendent of borough schools, who, with Mrs. Rossman, was a dinner guest.

With the aid of maps, Mr. Rossman gave a splendid talk on "Air Conditioning", which had nothing to do with ventilation of houses, but dealt, instead, with the changing methods of transportation and their influence on travel today and in post-war days. A portion of his talk was taken up with explanation of the civil pilot training program being carried on through the schools and local airport and its importance to both the war and peace time programs.

Mothers' Clubs To Present Educators In Lecture Monday

The three pre-school mothers' clubs of Warren are again uniting to present Dr. and Mrs. Garry Cleveland Myers, nationally known child psychologists, in a lecture Monday evening, October 19, in Founders Hall of First Methodist church. Many heard Dr. and Mrs. Myers when they visited Warren two years ago for a similar engagement.

The Myers, whose home is in Chicago, Ill., are editor in chief and associate editor respectively of "Children's Activities" and their subject for this interesting presentation will be "Our Children in These Times".

The lecture, for non-members as well as members of the three clubs, will be followed by a social hour. The topic is a timely and interesting one and will undoubtedly be of interest to all parents in Warren. It is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing these distinguished educators and specialists in child development.

Tickets, which are reasonably priced, are available from Mrs. Allen Koebler, 1991-J, Mrs. Howard Boyd, 1626-J, or Mrs. John Hughes, 1554-R. All reservations must be made by Friday evening, since no tickets will be sold after that time.

NOW-He will read your electric meter every other month

Normally your electric meter is read every month.

However, with the increasing shortage in man power and the urgent need for conserving transportation facilities, meter reading has become a problem.

To relieve the situation and help conserve vital war materials, the company has filed with the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania a change in its rules and regulations which provides for the reading of electric meters every other month.

You will receive a bill every month as in the past. Estimated bills will be rendered for those months that meters are not read. Any difference due to estimating will be automatically corrected when the next reading of your meter is taken.

We know you will understand and cooperate with us in meeting this war time emergency.

This change in meter reading policy applies to all residential, small commercial and small power customers

Rationing Program In Warren County Is Subject of Address

A great many announcements of club and community interest were made at the first meeting of the Community Service Department, held at the Woman's Club Monday afternoon, with Miss Dorothy B. Newell presiding.

George E. Cowden was presented a guest speaker and gave a splendid talk on the rationing program, particularly as it applies to Warren county.

To conclude, Mrs. B. W. Bloom and Mrs. George Calderwood presided in the club parlors for tea time.

Mrs. F. L. Plummer presented a resume of her findings on the subject of a day nursery and a recommendation was made to the club board of directors that it bring to Warren for further information Elizabeth T. Shipley, of the child welfare department of Pennsylvania.

The club president, Mrs. M. A. Connelly, made several announcements and Mrs. W. E. Lutz read a letter of reply from Miss Mell, sister of the late Dr. Mary Mitchell.

The Red Cross classes in home nursing were stressed by Mrs. H. N. Elmsquist, who asked for volunteers for this vital work, and Mrs. H. W. Conarro announced that surgical dressings work is being resumed.

The club party on Thursday night of this week was reported by Mrs. H. L. Smith and members were reminded by Mrs. A. C. Flick, Jr., of Literature Department next Monday afternoon.

Women Needed to Help In Surgical Dressing Group of Red Cross

The Red Cross is in the service of mankind. The Warren County Red Cross now calls all women who have worked in Surgical Dressing groups back to the battle. A new shipment has just been received and the Surgical Dressing classes, bigger and more efficient than ever, will begin Wednesday morning.

The Red Cross—among its many welfare duties as "the volunteer arm" of the army and navy—supplies nine-tenths of the surgical dressings needed in war time. The need today far surpasses that of yesterday. Enroll now for this branch of service.

The local unit is grateful for the assistance received and sincerely hopes that every worker will be on hand tomorrow to help achieve the goal now set.
